Registering the Program

Single user license

The single user license must be registered on the same computer on which the program is to be used.

To change the status of the program from demo version to full version, you need to register the program.

- To do this, you will require a serial number, obtained by purchasing a full licence for the program.
- You will also need to request and input a keycode.
- The steps to follow for both of these processes are detailed below.

To register the program

- 1) After purchasing a licence and once you have received your licence details, you need to register the program once
- 2) Click on the Register Full Version button when the program starts. (You can also do this in the menu Help > Info > Registration).

- 3) Click Continue.

Following licence purchase, you will have a licence serial number. This is a long number made up of a combination of digits and letters.
